Marie and Faz,
Hope you both are well. I have attached the invoice for the final work I did on the spray incident.
Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,
Megan

CITY OF BROOKHAVEN
PRESS RELEASE

May 14, 2015. Today, the Atlanta Journal Constitution reported, that a spokesperson for the City stated that an employee has accused the Mayor of sexual harassment and that the city attorney was investigating a sexual harassment claim. This statement is in error. City Attorney, Tom Kurrie, relayed to the AJC reporter that the spokesperson had not spoken to him prior to making the statement. Mr. Kurrie told the reporter, "There is no investigation of sexual harassment being conducted by the City of Brookhaven. Furthermore, there has been no claim or complaint filed by anyone, employee or otherwise, alleging sexual harassment by the Mayor."

Megan,

I saw the AJC's article on the allegations made against Brookhaven mayor J. Max Davis:
http://www.ajc.com/news/news/local/brookhaven-mayor-accused-of-harassment/nmFph/?ecmp=ajc_social_twitter_2014_sfp.
I am working on my own article and have two questions:
First, is everything in the AJC's article accurate?
Second, is there anything else you can tell me about the case? I will understand if you can't based on its nature.
Thanks.

Here's the revised: (they've asked me to go ahead and send to media)

May 13, 2015

At the direction of the city manager, the city attorney on March 17, 2015, commenced the investigation of an incident where an aerosol can was sprayed in the vicinity of two city employees by the mayor. After interviewing the two employees, the mayor, the city manager and the human resources director, Mr. Kurrie has concluded that there was no intentional conduct that rose to the level of harassment of any type. Neither of the employees involved claimed or inferred that this incident involving the mayor was sexual or harassing in nature. Mayor Davis said, "I have spoken with both employees present and they have accepted the sincere apology that I offered. The action was innocent and was not intended to bring discomfort."

Mr. Kurrie also said that "There is not presently nor was there any investigation of sexual harassment being conducted by the City of Brookhaven. Furthermore, there has been no claim or complaint filed by anyone, employee or otherwise, alleging sexual harassment by the Mayor."

CITY OF BROOKHAVEN
PRESS RELEASE

May 14, 2015. Today, the Atlanta Journal Constitution reported, that a spokesperson for the City stated that an employee has accused the Mayor of sexual harassment and that the city attorney was investigating a sexual harassment claim. This statement is in error. City Attorney, Tom Kurrie, relayed to the AJC reporter that the spokesperson had not spoken to him prior to making the statement. Mr. Kurrie told the reporter, "There is no investigation of sexual harassment being conducted by the City of Brookhaven. Furthermore, there has been no claim or complaint filed by anyone, employee or otherwise, alleging sexual harassment by the Mayor."

Megan,

I'm starting to get calls about story about the mayor that appeared in the AJC today, and was wondering if you want me to forward those to you, if if there's a statement I should just provide.

Just let me know,

Thanks,
Ann Marie

Hi again Megan,

I would like to revise the open records request I filed last evening. Please see the additional two items added below.

Under the Georgia Open Records Act, we wish to obtain the following records from the City of Brookhaven:

- The dates of employment, job title and salary of employee Fazellete Gonzalez
- The current salary of Mayor J. Max Davis
- Any internal or external complaints filed by Ms. Gonzalez during her employment with Brookhaven
- Any written communications, including emails, between Ms. Gonzalez and any city staff or city officials in which she expressed dissatisfaction or difficulties with her work situation, work environment or interactions with staff or any elected official or officials
- Any written complaint of sexual harassment against any employee by Mayor J. Max Davis
- Any written communications, including emails, by any city employee expressing difficulties in interacting with Mayor J. Max Davis, or involving any kind of harassment allegations against Mr. Davis. Also, any written communications by any city employees discussing such a situation.

Again, if possible, I would appreciate having these documents scanned electronically and emailed to me. Also, please notify me if estimated costs exceed $25.
